

ACCESS TO EXCEPTIONAL CREATIVITY

If you envision a creative career on the stage, in the studio, or in the boardroom, you'll find your foundation right here. Structured into three distinct schools, the School of the Arts, the School of Communication, and the School of Music, the College of Communication, Fine Arts and Media (CFAM) is where students find the right balance of academics and application to prepare them for their careers. Whether that means teaching, creating, performing, or communicating—or some combination of those—CFAM graduates know their educational experience will help them make an impact in the world.
