

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT PARTNERSHIP INITIATIVE

The University of Nebraska Omaha (UNO) Community Engagement Partnership Initiative (CEPI) is a UNO student-developed tool that collects and showcases meaningful partnerships through individual projects. Projects include service learning, volunteerism, knowledge and resource sharing, engaged research, and community-based learning. Projects generally should meet the broadly defined goal of advancing the public good.

USER VS. VIEWER

PUBLIC VIEWER:

Anyone

CAMPUS USER:

Any UNO faculty/staff can register for a campus user account and enter individual projects into the CEPI application. New campus users require account activation by an administrator before use. Email partnerships@unomaha.edu for account activation.

HOW ARE YOU INVOLVED?

Campus users have the option to register their individual projects within the CEPI application. This allows users to showcase their community engagement projects while being able to generate reports and view their data on CEPI's dynamic maps and analytics.

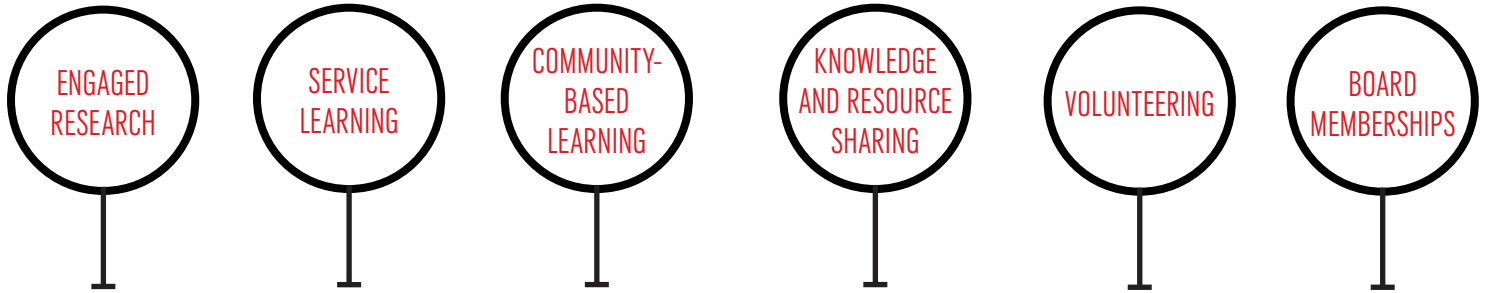

CREATING A NEW PROJECT IS EASY:

- Unique project name
- Engagement type
- Description
- Semester / Academic Year
- Total UNO students involved
- Total UNO student hours (if known)
- Community partners involved
- Campus partners involved
- Physical address of project (if you want to show it on the projects map)

ENGAGEMENT AND ACTIVITY TYPES

All projects are assigned an engagement and activity type. All engagement types are tied to a set list of activity types.
