Become a Challenge Agent: Innovation, Growth, and Advancement through the Diversity of Ideas

Alaina Levine, Author of Networking for Nerds

September 20th | 5 – 6 PM | Milo Bail Student Center, Chancellor Room

When you see a pain point or a wall impeding innovation or an opportunity for change, how do you challenge the status quo? How do you identify and affect change in your life, organization, and team in a way that has the maximum impact? The key to challenge, change and growth is always innovation, and innovation is always tied to diversity of ideas. In this keynote, Alaina Levine, author of Networking for Nerds, will discuss the strategies to become a Challenge Agent—a leader who looks for chances to challenge the status quo, seeks out and harnesses the power of all types of diversity, implements and affects change and challenge in safe ways, and in the process, innovates and empowers themselves, their organization, and their team.
