A scientific approach to science education

Nobel Laureate Dr. Carl Wieman

September 20th | 12 – 2 PM | Milo Bail Student Center, Ballroom

Join the UNO STEM TRAIL Center for lunch with Dr. Carl Wieman. Dr. Wieman is a physicist, science education expert, and author of the book Improving How Universities Teach Science: Lessons from the Science Education Initiative (Harvard University Press, 2017). He was awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics in 2001 for his research on the production of Bose-Einstein condensates while at the University of Colorado Boulder. In 1998, he was awarded the Lorentz Medal for his contributions to theoretical physics, which is only awarded every four years. Dr. Wieman was Chair of the Board on Science Education for the National Academy of Science from 2005-2009, and was nominated by President Obama to serve as Associate Director for Science at the White House Office of Science and Technology from 2010-2012. Recently, Dr. Wieman founded the Carl Wieman Science Education Initiative (CWSEI) at the University of British Columbia.
