CONSTITUTION WEEK EVENTS

"The First Amendment Today" Panel Discussion

Wednesday, September 13 | 10 AM - 11 AM | MBSC Dodge Room

Panelists Isaacson Professor Jeremy Lipschultz of the School of Communication, Professor Jody Neathery-Castro of the Political Science Department, and Professor Mark Scherer of the History Department will discuss "The First Amendment Today: Freedom of Speech, Radical Speech, and the Debate over Limits." With the events at Charlottesville, Virginia and political violence occurring at other public demonstrations, this event will give students and staff a chance to think about the role of the First Amendment in protecting even radical and unpopular forms of speech, the benefits and costs of freedom of speech, and what limits, if any, public authorities should impose.

Voter Registration

Thursday, September 14 | 10 AM - 11 AM | MBSC Atrium

The League of Women Voters (LOWV) is hosting a voter registration booth for students, faculty, and staff. LOWV is a non-partisan organization that encourages informed and active participation in government, works to increase understanding of major public policy issues, and influences public policy through education and advocacy.

Engage in the Constitution

Thursday, September 14 | 12 PM - 1 PM | MBSC Atrium

Engage in civil discourse about the U.S. Constitution with students from the UNO Honors Argumentation and Debate course. Enhance your understanding of the Constitution through the art of deliberation. Pocket copies of the constitution will be available.
