

VOTING RIGHTS ARE HUMAN RIGHTS

Wednesday, September 21, 2022 | 11:30 am - 1:00 pm
UNO CEC | RSVP Here: bit.ly/3QwsOgQ

Human rights are central to debates around voting rights in the U.S. While the U.S. constitution has been amended over time to protect voting rights, challenges to voting rights are ongoing and pose threats to human rights, particularly for disenfranchised voters. Join a panel of voting rights experts at UNO for Human Rights Week and Constitution Week as we discuss these threats to voting rights and what community groups are doing to take action. Light snacks will be provided.

Event sponsored by UNO's Goldstein Family Community Chair in Human Rights, College of Public Affairs and Community Service's School of Public Administration, and Women and Public Policy Week.

Panelists include

- Heather Engdahl, Voting Rights Director, Civic Nebraska
- Liliana Falcon, Community Organizer, Elevate Omaha and UNO Student
- Jasmine Harris, Director of Public Policy and Advocacy, RISE
- Jane Seu, Immigration Fellow, ACLU of Nebraska

Moderated by Dr. Jodi Benenson, Associate Professor, School of Public Administration.

Questions? Contact Dr. Jodi Benenson at jbenenson@unomaha.edu