Speech-language pathologists (SLPs), sometimes called speech therapists, assess, diagnose, treat, and prevent speech, language, social communication, cognitive-communication, and swallowing disorders in children and adults.

CAREER DESCRIPTION

- Typical Salary: $68,240 (NE); $76,610 (National)
- Projected job growth: 18% (National)
- According to ASHA, 54.2% of SLP’s are employed in educational settings; 39.3% are employed in healthcare settings;
- Help individuals improve vocabulary and sentence structure used in oral and written language
- Help individuals develop and strengthen muscles used to swallow
- Counsel individuals on how to cope with communication disorders.

TYPICAL EDUCATION

- Years of school (including undergraduate): 6
- Approximate cost of 2 year program: $15,650
- Average entering GPA: 3.84 (2018)
- GRE required for admission
- Average entering GRE Score: 304 (2018)

NEARBY SCHOOLS

- University of Nebraska-Omaha
- University of Nebraska-Lincoln
- University of Nebraska-Kearney
- Midwestern University- Illinois
- University of Northern Colorado
- University of Tulsa
- University of Northern Iowa

TIPS FOR SUCCESS

- Volunteer in the community (local health departments, community engagement organizations)
- Maintain a 3.5 GPA to remain competitive
- Begin networking – make positive connections with faculty and community leaders
- Participate in professional student organization (National Student Speech-Language Hearing Association)
- Must be able to listen and communicate well

*Data and information from Bureau of Labor Statistics
Data and information from UNL

WHAT PRACTICING PROFESSIONALS SAY

"Being a SLP has exceeded my expectations because it is always interesting and far from boring. The field evolves through research, so there are constantly techniques and approaches to learn.”

- Kimberly Scanlon, SLP

"At its core, communication sciences and disorders (CSD) is about working with people to improve their speech, language, hearing and other communication abilities. The goal of all CSD professionals is ultimately the same—to help humans effectively communicate—but how and where you work to achieve that goal is up to you. For more information go to: https://hearingandspeechcareers.org

UNO Health Careers Resource Center
307 Allwine Hall | 402.554.5980
unohealthcareers@unomaha.edu
kas.unomaha.edu/healthcareers

The University of Nebraska does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, marital status, and/or political affiliation in its programs, activities, or employment. Last update: 1.27.20