

THE SCIENCES OF SUSTAINABILITY & PUBLIC HEALTH

A UNO Course in Lima, Peru | June 2017

Join with students from all 4 University of Nebraska campuses this summer in Latin America. Discover the culture of Peru and explore ideas on sustainability and public health.

Instructors: Dr. Jonathan Benjamin-Alvarado &
Dr. Regina Robbins

Course: 3 Hours, LLS 4950/8956

Cost: Approx. $2,550*

Contact: UNO Education Abroad

ASH 220, Dodge Campus

unostudyabroad@unomaha.edu

(402)-554-3168

Application: unomaha-horizons.symplicity.com

Deadline to Apply: December 1, 2016

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA AT OMAHA
EDUCATION ABROAD

*The Program cost includes international airfare, flight from Lima to Cuzco, accommodation, some meals, excursions, & local transportation. It does not include UNO tuition and fees for 3 credit hours, some meals, and spending money. The University of Nebraska has provided a scholarship of $1,700 per student that is selected to participate. The cost of the program is $2,550 AFTER the scholarship has been applied to the program. A limited number of students will be selected from each campus for this partially funded opportunity- so apply early!

Student Photo Credit: Brittany Conroy & Natalie Christiansen

AA/EEO Institution. For special needs or assistance please call/contact Emily Hassenstab at (402) 554-3168