Psychology is one of the many helping professions that studies the human mind, behavior and social interactions. If you’re interested in the field but you’re not sure it’s your life’s goal, a psychology minor can provide you with a basic background in the fundamentals needed to enhance your understanding of human behavior. A psychology minor can also help you to further your career - many employers are interested in applicants who have a deeper understanding of how the mind works and how it influences behavior.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE PSYCHOLOGY MINOR

REQUIRED

- PSYC 1010  Introduction to Psychology I
- AND an additional 12 hours of 3000- or 4000- level courses earned at UNO

All coursework must be completed with a grade of “C-: or better.

NOTE: Upper-division courses may have additional PSYC prerequisites. For more information, contact the Psychology Department at 402.554.2592 or consult with your academic advisor.

Contact either the UNO Psychology Department (ASH 347) or the College of Arts and Sciences Advising Office (ASH 240) for a “Change of Undergraduate Academic Program” form to ensure your Psychology Minor appears on your official UNO record.