

MINOR IN PSYCHOLOGY

Psychology is one of the many helping professions that studies the human mind, behavior and social interactions. If you're interested in the field but you're not sure it's your life's goal, a psychology minor can provide you with a basic background in the fundamentals needed to enhance your understanding of human behavior. A psychology minor can also help you to further your career - many employers are interested in applicants who have a deeper understanding of how the mind works and how it influences behavior.

All coursework must be completed with a grade of "C-" or better.

REQUIRED

PSYC 1010 Introduction to Psychology I

UPPER-LEVEL PSYC COURSES

An additional 12 hours of 3000- or 4000- level courses. At least 9 of these hours must be earned at UNO.

All upper-level courses count toward a minor; however, many have prerequisites other than PSYC 1010. Below are upper-level courses that have PSYC 1010 as the only prerequisite.

PSYC 3410 Clinical Psychology

PSYC 3430 Personality and Adjustment

PSYC 3450 Social Psychology

PSYC 3510 Educational Psychology

PSYC 3520 Child Psychology

PSYC 3540 Adolescent Psychology

PSYC 4440 Abnormal Psychology

PSYC 4630 Organizational Psychology

PSYC 4920 Special Topics in Psychology. Some special topics classes have only PSYC 1010 as a prerequisite

The above is NOT a comprehensive list of upper-level PSYC courses. For a complete list and prerequisites, consult the UNO undergraduate catalog at <https://catalog.unomaha.edu>.

MORE INFORMATION

For more information, contact the Psychology Department at 402.554.2592 or consult with your academic advisor.