CBA’s Executive and Professional Development Program One Stop for Non-Credit and Custom Programming

The College of Business Administration is working to meet the reskill and upskill needs of the existing workforce through a variety of custom and open-enrollment programs. In November 2020, senior CBA leaders made the decision to combine two critical programs in the college – CBA’s Executive Education Program and Professional and Organizational Development housed in the Nebraska Business Development Center. The newly formed Executive and Professional Development Program emerged in January 2021, offering a wide range of non-credit certificates and custom programming for clients around the state.

Non-credit certificates and courses are currently being offered in a mix of formats – remote, in-person, and hybrid. Topics range from leadership, project management, and business analysis, to SHRM and PMP certification prep, to lean and data analytics. Consulting has also become a staple for the program, particularly in the areas of strategic planning and lean operations/manufacturing.

For more information on the Executive and Professional Development Program, please contact Kim Harter at kkharter@unomaha.edu or 402.554.3451.
Foundations of Management

In the current job climate, there are changes that come at you in unexpected ways. Being able to adapt to the changes has become a must have skill. I was searching for opportunities where I could develop my soft skills and learn ways to become a better leader and mentor. I found a program at UNO that had an array of Leadership courses covering a wide variety of topics. I saw this as great opportunity to add tools and skills that would help me develop those areas, where I was lacking experience and confidence.

The instructors had so many different perspectives and real work experiences…it was very refreshing to discuss the scenarios that were realistic and even get new perspectives from other professionals. The quality of the courses, interactions, and materials just made me want to delve deeper into the subject matter. I was very interested in these topics, and the Team at UNO suggested I look at the Mini MBA program which mirrors their MBA subjects and content in concise shortened format. I was able to dig deeper into those leadership subjects but also gain more perspective in the different business areas I had previously not had much experience with Marketing, Finance, and HR. These courses also helped to solidify the use of the new soft skills I developed in the Leadership Certificate.

Because of my experience, I will continue to look to UNO for further learning opportunities and build the networks I have gained during my time in their programs!
