

MANAGEMENT

The Department of Management offers a variety of concentrations and minors that appeal to all students. Our program offerings focus on the art and science of managing an organization and leading people. We build you as a manager and leader by teaching the aspects of management that help all organizations succeed.

MANAGEMENT & LEADERSHIP

COLLABORATION | COMMUNICATION | PROBLEM-SOLVING

This versatile and portable concentration is ideal for students interested in managing organizations and leading people. Our program centers on Five Power Skills that are cultivated in each course. These skills will prepare you to work in a variety of organizations. Jump-start your management career with the Management & Leadership concentration.

HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

PEOPLE | ENGAGEMENT | PERFORMANCE

This concentration is perfect for students who want to help an organization and its employees to thrive and succeed. Key HR activities include talent acquisition, talent development, total rewards, employee and labor relations, and strategic human resource planning. People management is an important part of every organization; so, whether in a large, multinational organization or a smaller nonprofit organization, there will be a need for your expertise.

LOGISTICS & SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

LOGISTICS | PROCUREMENT | RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

This concentration is tailored for students willing to engage in supply chain functions within an organization. Efficient integration of suppliers, factories, warehouses, and stores so that merchandise is produced and distributed - the right quantities to the right location at the right time - to minimize total system cost and satisfy their customer are key points you will learn providing an invaluable resource to your chosen place of business.

LOGISTICS & SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

Supply chain management is the active and intentional management of goods and services flows from design and sourcing to consumers.

In today's hyper competitive and technological driven market, supply chain is no longer "one size fits all". It requires individuals with analytical and relationship skills to manage information, engage customers and suppliers, and integrate processes across functions and firms. Together, these individuals will create supply chain solutions that deliver unique value propositions to end consumers and define the next century business practices.
