What is the Human Movement Variability Conference?

The Human Movement Variability conference is an annual conference organized by the Center for Research in Human Movement Variability and Department of Biomechanics since its culmination in 2016. The goal of the conference is to bring together researchers and clinicians to learn and share the latest in human movement variability research.

What is the Great Plains Biomechanics Conference?

The Great Plains Biomechanics Conference is a new conference that will coincide with the Human Movement Variability conference in 2020. The goal of this conference is to provide a student-centered meeting where the growing field of biomechanics is explored through poster and podium sessions and a keynote speaker. The target demographic includes students, faculty, and clinicians from states such as Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Colorado, and Oklahoma.

Who attends the conference?

The conference averages around 100 attendees each year and is comprised of students, faculty, and staff. In 2021, due to COVID, the conferences were held virtually, allowing speakers to join from all over the world.
