What is your favorite part about working at UNO?

My favorite part about working at UNO is being able to interact with students and assist them along their educational journey. I really enjoy the college campus' environment and having the opportunity to take classes and continue learning. One of my job aspirations growing up was to be a campus tour guide and give fun facts about universities. While traveling, I like to visit other college campuses across the US. My favorite so far has been Brown University because of its East Coast vibe, which is what I grew up reading about in books.

If you could only eat one food for the rest of your life, what would it be?

If I had to, I would eat peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. Growing up, my dad made me PB&J sandwiches for school lunches every day from the age 7 to 17. PB&J’s do not need to be refrigerated, are easy to eat on the go and require no utensils once made, making them an accessible handheld food item for anywhere.

What is the best trip you ever took?

The best trip I ever took was in 2014 when I went with to Costa Rica with my two sisters for one of their birthdays. While in Costa Rica, we went on a chocolate making tour, hiked in the rain forest, and visited a wildlife sanctuary. At the wildlife sanctuary, we saw sloths, monkeys, and jaguars. The sanctuary rehabilitates these animals and tries to reintroduce them into the environment. I also had the opportunity to practice my Spanish and go snorkeling.

What is your favorite holiday and why?

My favorite holiday is Thanksgiving because it is a bypassed holiday. There are Halloween and Christmas lovers, but people often forget about Thanksgiving. There is no decor. I enjoy Thanksgiving because there is a lot of food and I am a fan of side dishes. It is the time of year I get to make my sweet potatoes and eat pumpkin pie. My family also has a Thanksgiving tradition of watching the National Dog Show and betting on who is going to win, with the winner getting bragging rights for the year!
