Travel and Accommodations

Round-trip transportation on a scheduled airline between Omaha and London. Ticketing through Fox World Travel allows participants to remain in Europe for a limited period following the tour for independent travel, however extra charges will apply depending on the return date.

Unless otherwise stipulated, the group must travel together on the same flight(s) for the entire itinerary. Transportation between your hometown and departure city, as well as deviations from the group air schedule, may be subject to additional charges.

Tour Price

TO BE DETERMINED

Included: Round trip airfare from Omaha, room and partial board (as specified), all designated group transfers, insurance, and administrative costs.

A $200 application fee is due when applying for acceptance into the course and will be applied to final total upon entrance into class.

Not Included: Passports, independent travel by public transport, incidental personal expenses such as laundry, unspecified meals, entertainment, etc.

Academic and Credit Requirements

Participants receive three semester hours of graded undergraduate credit in CRCJ 4710/CRIM 4710 Comparative Criminal Justice Systems: England. Those wishing to receive full credit for the course must travel with the class to London, attend all academic activities, participate in discussions and complete a journal reflecting their experiences. (One may choose to audit the course but full tuition will be charged.)
