

VISUALIZING RESTORATIVE JUSTICE IN SINGAPORE

MORE DETAILS

JANUARY 2024 TERM

 SCHOOL OF CRIMINOLOGY AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Travel to Singapore to experience one of the most unique cities in the world and discover how restorative practices have transformed their justice system!

During this trip, you will be immersed in the restorative approaches of the Singapore criminal and social welfare systems. Some of the planned activities include:

- Engagement with local University of Singapore student ambassadors for cultural experiences.
- Two days of Restorative Approaches training from Lutheran Community Cares Services — international experts in restorative practices and reform.
- On site visits and dialogue sessions with a variety of justice and social welfare agencies.
- Final presentation about student experience to the High Commissioner (likely via the U.S. Embassy).

Join us to see a different way of justice in action — how restorative approaches help hold people accountable while healing individuals, relationships, and communities.

The cost of flight, transportation to and from most planned activities, training, lodging, and some meals will be included in the program price. Cost range is $4,395–$4,945 (final program cost is determined by number of participants).
