UNO GRACE ABBOTT SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

SOWK 4010/8016 SOCIAL WORK WITH AMERICAN INDIANS
(3 credit hours)

SYLLABUS

1.0 Course description information

1.1 Catalog description: This course provides the student with a broad study of the origins, influences and issues of the American Indian which affect social work practice. The usefulness of established social work generalist methods is explored. Alternative methods applicable to culturally diverse people across the lifespan are presented.

1.2 Prerequisites of the course:
Undergraduate: SOWK 3320 prior to or concurrent.
Graduate: SOWK 8130 prior to or concurrent, or BSW degree.

1.3 Overview of content and purpose of the course: This course helps students to learn about the historical and anthropological origins of the American Indian across the lifespan, and debates the similarities and differences in value orientations of the American Indian and the dominant society. Through reflection and readings, the student learns about cultural diversity and the unique social arrangements and institutions of American Indians and general society. Students will also gain generalist skills appropriate for working with American Indian clients and will be able to identify issues which affect Indian people and the implications for social work practice.

1.4 Unusual circumstances of the course: This course is offered as SOWK 4010 for undergraduate students. This course is offered as SOWK 8016 for graduate students.

2.0 Course justification information

2.1 Anticipated audience/demand:
Undergraduate: This course meets the requirements for minority or social work elective for BSSW students.
Graduate: This course is a social work elective in the MSW program.

2.2 Indicate how often this course will be offered and the anticipated enrollment:
This course is expected to be offered on a rotating basis – usually once every 1-2 years.
Undergraduate: Enrollment is anticipated to be 20 students.
Graduate: Enrollment is anticipated to be 5 students.
2.3 If it is a significant change to an existing course, please explain why it is needed: The course objectives have been revised to meet accreditation standards. Course objectives and assignments are now linked with CSWE EPAS competencies and practice behaviors. The bibliography has also been updated.

8.0 Other information

8.1 Accommodations statement
Reasonable accommodations are provided for students who are registered with UNO Disability Services and make their requests sufficiently in advance. For more information, contact UNO Disability Services (EAB 117, Phone: 554-2872, TTY: 554-3799) or go to the website: www.unomaha.edu/disability

8.2 Plagiarism/academic integrity
In this course, you will submit written work in which you make use of information and ideas found in print or online sources. Whenever you use material from another writer, it is important that you quote or paraphrase appropriately and cite the source. Never let it appear that ideas and information gleaned from other sources are your own.

The UNO Academic Integrity policy defines plagiarism as “presenting the work of another as one’s own (i.e., without proper acknowledgment of the source) and submitting . . . academic work in whole or in part as one’s own when such work has been prepared by another person or copied from another person.”

Failure to cite sources appropriately is plagiarism, a serious academic offense. Plagiarized work will not be accepted. Consequences for plagiarism are up to the discretion of the instructor; they may range, for example, from rewriting all or part of a paper to a grade of F for the course. Students who plagiarize more than once are subject to disciplinary action, which may include expulsion from the university.

UNO Faculty Senate, March, 2010
Additional note on plagiarism/academic integrity from the UNO School of Social Work:

The School of Social Work views plagiarism as a very serious offense. The NASW Code of Ethics includes a high value on integrity and the importance of behaving in a trustworthy manner (see NASW Code of Ethics, www.socialworkers.org/pubs/code/default.asp, 4.04 and 4.08). In addition, the Publication Manual of the APA (2010) states, “Researchers do not claim the words and ideas of another as their own; they give credit where credit is due. Quotation marks should be used to indicate the exact words of another. Each time you paraphrase another author, you need to credit the source in the text” (p. 15).

The School of Social Work will hold a Level 2 or 3 Student Review for any student who is alleged to have plagiarized or cheated in any of their academic courses.

8.3 Procedures regarding student grades/papers

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974 requires that student grades not be published in a personally identifiable fashion. Therefore, unless prior arrangements have been made with the instructor, students must provide a self-addressed adequately stamped envelope for papers, projects, or exams that were not returned to them in class. Any remaining papers, projects or exams will be kept by the instructor for 3 months after the semester ends, at which time they will be shredded.
