COURSE INFORMATION
Description
This course considers the family context as a system for therapeutic intervention. The family unit and its diverse forms are defined; theories for assessment and understanding family's interactions across the lifespan are considered, and the alternative modalities useful for treating family dysfunction are presented. As a practice-oriented course, it emphasizes the development of professional skills in working with the family across the lifespan.

Rationale/Overview
Upon completion of this course, students will demonstrate competence in clinical practice with families. They will apply clinical thinking using provided theory and research to assess and intervene with families experiencing dysfunction. Students will assess families including the influences of the biological, psychological, social, and spiritual functioning of each member of the system as well as the contribution of these variables to the formation of family strengths or dysfunction. The context of change will be applied in assessing the stages of the family life cycle as well as the individual life cycle and the adjustments that each require for effective growth. Students will analyze the social, cultural, and other influences of vulnerable populations at risk for treatment and in need for preventive services and serve as an advocate for individual, familial, or social change. They will demonstrate competence in applying social work values, ethical principles, and legal mandates in their clinical practice with families.
Course Objectives/Student Learning Outcomes
1. Critique selected major theoretical models of family therapy.
2. Compose a theoretically informed assessment and treatment plan relevant to the family context.
3. Critique characteristics of diverse family structures and systems, including anti-racism, diversity, equity, and inclusion (ADEI).

WRITING GUIDELINES

Students should make sure that writing assignments are free of grammar, punctuation, and spelling errors. Papers should adhere to the most recent citation style outlined by the American Psychological Association (APA).

PLAGIARISM STATEMENT

In this course, students will submit written work by making use of information and ideas found in print or online sources. Whenever material from another writer is used, it is important that students quote or paraphrase appropriately and cite the source.

The UNO Academic Integrity policy defines plagiarism as "presenting the work of another as one's own (i.e., without proper acknowledgment of the source) and submitting academic work in whole or in part as one's own when such work has been prepared by another person or copied from another person."

Failure to cite sources appropriately is plagiarism, a serious academic offense. Plagiarized work will not be accepted. Consequences for plagiarism are up to the discretion of the instructor; they may range, for example, from rewriting all or part of a paper to a grade of F for the course. Students who plagiarize more than once are subject to disciplinary action, which may include expulsion from the university.

Students SHOULD NOT GUESS when it comes to using or citing another writer's work. Students should contact the instructor or a consultant at the UNO Writing Center with questions. Students should take a printout of the original source as well as the paper that is being written to the consultation.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY POLICY

The maintenance of academic honesty and integrity is a vital concern of the University community. Any student found responsible for violating the policy on Academic Integrity shall be subject to both academic and disciplinary sanctions. Violations of the policy on Academic Integrity include, but are not limited to, the following: cheating, fabrication and falsification, plagiarism, abuse of academic materials and/or equipment, complicity in academic dishonesty, falsifying grade reports, and/or misrepresentation to avoid academic work. More information about these areas and the procedures addressing academic integrity is available from the Office of Academic and Student Affairs (EAB 202 | 402.554.2262).
