

MICRO-AGGRESSION AND MICRO-RESISTANCE IN THE CLASSROOM

INCREMENTAL EFFORTS THAT MAKE A DIFFERENCE

TUESDAY, AUGUST 15 | 9 A.M. – 12 P.M. | CRISS LIBRARY 249

Micro-aggressions (instances of indirect, subtle, or unintentional discrimination) occur all around us, including our classroom environments.

As teachers, strategies for addressing these and other bias incidents are critical tools for creating civil, safe, and inclusive classrooms.

Dr. Cynthia Ganote will lead an interactive workshop on micro-aggression and micro-resistance techniques that can be readily adopted. Participants will be encouraged to engage with concepts and strategies through dialogue and active learning techniques.

Biography

Cynthia Ganote, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor in the Department of Sociology at Saint Mary's College of California in the San Francisco Bay Area. Her research focuses on race, class, gender, and sexual inequalities; feminist methods (including grounded theory and feminist in-depth interviews); critical and feminist pedagogies; and on approaches to community-based research.
