

SCIENCE OLYMPIAD COACHES NEEDED !

Inspire the Next Generation of Innovators — Become a Science Olympiad Coach!

Are you a passionate science teacher looking to take your students beyond the classroom? Join the Science Olympiad community and lead a team of curious, creative, and driven young scientists as they compete in one of the nation's most prestigious STEM competitions.

As a coach, you will:

- Spark excitement for hands-on science and real-world problem-solving
- Guide students toward academic excellence and teamwork all year long
- Build a lasting legacy of inspiration and inquiry based learning
- Rediscover the reason you became a teacher

No prior coaching experience needed — just your enthusiasm and love for science!

Help and guidance is available for new coaches!

UNO STEM TRAIL CENTER

- Mentors available to help you through your first year
- Coaches Clinic in October - led by experienced coaches
- Online help, zoom meetings, and possible site visits available upon request.

Help Us Inspire the Next Generation of Science !

We are here to help you get started this fall! Start with a small team, prepare for a handful of events and see what all this excitement is about. Before you know it, your team will grow and their love of learning and excitement for science gets reflected back every day.
