The University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) invites applications and nominations for the position of Senior Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. The Senior Vice Chancellor is the university’s chief academic officer and the second highest ranking campus university official. Reporting to the Chancellor, the Senior Vice Chancellor provides innovative and strategic leadership to create, implement, and advance the academic mission of the university with a commitment to excellence and integrity.

Responsible for all colleges, academic departments, and programs, the Senior Vice Chancellor leads and oversees academic policy development and implementation; strategic planning; faculty reappointment, promotion, and tenure processes; community engagement; and numerous budgets to support academic priorities. In the spirit of shared governance, the Senior Vice Chancellor works closely with all of the academic deans, Faculty Senate and confers often with the UNO Chapter of the American Association of University Professors. (AAUP).
UNO MISSION

As both a Metropolitan University of distinction and a Carnegie Doctoral Research Institution, the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) transforms and improves the quality of life locally, nationally and globally.

UNO VISION

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is recognized as the premier Metropolitan University throughout the United States and the world.

METROPOLITAN UNIVERSITY MISSION

UNO is dedicated to the city and state in our name. As the University of Nebraska’s metropolitan university campus, no fences or barriers separate students from the opportunities offered by the greater Omaha area.

We address real issues, providing relevant learning opportunities which uniquely prepare our graduates as professionals and active members of their community. As a good neighbor, for more than a century, we actively engage in the teaching, research, service, culture, and economy of the region and strengthen the quality of life in Omaha.

Success at UNO means success for Omaha, and success for Omaha means success at UNO.

All of this is what a “Metropolitan University” identity means to the Mavericks of UNO.

HISTORY

Since its inception in 1908, UNO has been firmly anchored in the community, forging partnerships with business, government, education, arts, and civic organizations. UNO has long set the pace for accessible higher education in Nebraska and continues to offer an academically rigorous experience to a diverse student body.

In 1908, Omaha University was founded as a private, coeducational college by the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Omaha. Early founders stated a desire for a learning environment “free from ecclesiastical control.” In addition to forging an institution that provided “sound learning and practical education,” the intent was for this to be within reach of anyone who sought higher education.

By 1930, Omaha voters approved taking over control of the University of Omaha—making it the city’s first and only municipal university. Around this time, as enrollment surpassed capacity, the university moved to 60th and Dodge. It was a location strategically chosen by administration and students in order to align UNO in the path of the city’s projected east-to-west growth. As a result, the city of Omaha has developed around the university, making UNO the true heart of the metropolitan area.

Since the university became part of the University of Nebraska system in 1968, there has been a flurry of growth. UNO has renovated more than half of its academic space in just over five years. Student housing was constructed, allowing more students to live on campus and fully experience all that UNO has to offer. UNO has taken athletics to the next level and joined the ranks of NCAA Division I sports.

Throughout its development, UNO has been firmly anchored to the community. These relationships run deep. In fact, UNO was named to the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, the highest federal recognition a school can achieve for its civic engagement, every year that the award was offered. Construction was completed in 2014 on UNO’s new 60,000-square-foot Community Engagement Center, which supports and allows for further expansion of university-community partnerships.

It is in part thanks to this rich, layered history that Mavericks today know they are a part of a university committed to diversity and inclusion. And the opportunity to create the next chapter continues as the University of Nebraska at Omaha addresses the changing needs of the metropolitan area, state, region and world.
ACADEMIC STRUCTURE

UNO’s six colleges are dedicated to providing rigorous academic programs taught by faculty who are national and international experts in their fields. All of UNO’s colleges offer unique opportunities in research and hands-on experiences that are critical to gaining an edge in a competitive global marketplace.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
In the oldest college at UNO, the College of Arts and Sciences, students pursue their passion through a wide spectrum of majors, putting them on a path to an enriched life and a successful career. With majors in the humanities, social sciences, or natural sciences, students become part of a community of critical thinkers, intercultural connectors, and world-changing researchers.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
Faculty in the College of Business Administration engage students in learning experiences that prepare them to “hit the ground running” as knowledgeable, motivated, and resourceful business professionals. Accredited by the AACSB and taught by full-time faculty and business professionals, students graduate with an ideal mix of knowledge and “know-how” in one (or more) of 13 different concentration areas. The long-term career success of graduates is a testimony to the quality of a business degree earned at UNO.

COLLEGE OF COMMUNICATION, FINE ARTS AND MEDIA
The College of Communication, Fine Arts and Media is united by the creative forces of imagination and communication. With curriculum incorporating liberal arts, the humanities, and the social sciences, students experience both the practical and theoretical. Classes are taught by nationally recognized artists, performers, writers, and scholars, with opportunities to interact one-on-one with faculty and in small groups. Omaha also offers vast cultural resources.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
The College of Education is committed to the development of dedicated practitioners, reflective scholars, and responsible citizens. The college offers a diverse range of majors and programs in six academic units. Here, students learn, train, and research in cutting-edge facilities and benefit from life on a metropolitan campus in the heart of a dynamic city.

COLLEGE OF INFORMATION SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY
Students in the College of Information Science & Technology have access to renowned faculty, state-of-the-art facilities, and energetic peers. The college continues to develop new curriculum with the goal of tackling the information technology challenges of tomorrow. IS&T’s students are among the top competitors in their fields, with average alumni having an average starting salary of $60,000. The Women in IT initiative provides a mentorship program for IS&T female students with participation in nationally-recognized conferences and activities.

COLLEGE OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS AND COMMUNITY SERVICE
Students who wish to serve their community and improve society find a wealth of opportunities in the College of Public Affairs and Community Service, along with a strong support system. The college’s nationally-ranked programs empower future leaders, enabling them to create innovative solutions to the problems of a diverse and democratic society.

GRADUATE STUDIES
With over 70 graduate programs at master’s, doctoral, and certificate levels, Graduate Studies provides students from around the world with varied advanced education opportunities. Graduate students at UNO have the opportunity to develop independent scholarship and gain greater competence in research and other applied activities. Rigor, combined with real-world experience and innovation, help create a dynamic graduate atmosphere.
UNO STUDENT POPULATION

The University of Nebraska at Omaha’s (UNO) continued momentum is evident in the 2018-19 enrollment numbers, showing that UNO educated its largest incoming freshman class in school history this academic year. Incoming freshman class numbers set new records for the fourth year running.

Total enrollment stands at 15,432 students pursuing undergraduate degrees, graduate degrees, and certificates, or enhancing their careers and personal lives through UNO’s rich academic offerings.

UNO’s reputation for academic excellence, opportunity, and affordability attracted 2,151 new freshmen for the 2018-19 academic year. Of those, 37 percent are the first students in their families to pursue a college education. 34 percent are students of color.

This record-setting undergraduate enrollment trend highlights UNO’s commitment to accessibility and the diverse student body that it attracts and serves as part of its metropolitan university mission.

UNO’s student body includes more underrepresented students than any other school in the University of Nebraska system, and 42 percent of this year’s entire undergraduate student population are first-generation college students.

Nearly a tenth of the student population—1,396 students—are military-affiliated. UNO is currently in the Top 10 of the Military Times Best for Vets ranking.

While UNO continues to serve students from across the nation and the world, it remains an engine for workforce development in Nebraska. Eighty-eight percent of this year’s undergraduate and graduate students call Nebraska home, hailing from 58 of the state’s 93 counties. Additionally, more than 56,000 UNO alumni are currently living and working in the Omaha area.

UNO FACULTY

UNO students learn from distinguished faculty drawn from the world’s leading universities. There are 1,590 full time and 604 part time faculty members at UNO. Faculty are fully invested in students and their success, providing a personalized higher education experience. With a 17:1 undergraduate student-to-faculty ratio and a 13:1 graduate student-to-faculty ratio, faculty are able to connect with their students, provide them opportunities for research, and work to ensure they meet their full potential.

In 2016-17, UNO faculty:
- Completed 1,434 presentations
- Published 791 scholarly journal articles in academic outlets
- Published 208 books
- Completed 123 art shows/exhibitions
- Held 460 musical performances
- Performed 77 theatre-related activities

UNO has been classified as a Doctoral Research University: Moderate Research Activity by the Carnegie foundation. UNO receives millions of research dollars from national funding agencies, and faculty are working with prestigious organizations such as the U.S. Department of Defense, the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, and NASA.
STRATEGIC PLAN

UNO’s Strategic Plan is centered around four goals. A campus strategic planning committee oversees the annual review and maintenance of the campus strategic plan. Sub-goals, objectives, and tactics have been omitted for brevity.

GOAL 1: STUDENT CENTEREDNESS

The success of our students, while enrolled at our campus and later as graduates and global citizens, is critical to our mission. We are committed to ensuring a supportive and invigorating environment in which all of our students can thrive and grow.

GOAL 2: ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Through our commitment to discovery in all of its forms, we support a culture of scholarship in which the contributions of each discipline is celebrated. The breadth and recognition of our curriculum and academic programs reflects the highest standards of rigor, quality, and delivery.

GOAL 3: COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

We are committed to preparing our students to be engaged citizens and community leaders in a diverse and evolving society. We embrace our role as an anchor in our community, bringing our teaching, research, and service resources to bear in sustainable and reciprocal community partnerships.

GOAL 4: INSTITUTIONAL QUALITY

We recognize the great value of the human, information, financial, and physical assets entrusted to us and are committed to the highest levels of efficiency, effectiveness, and ethics in their deployment.

ACCREDITATION

The University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC).

HLC is one of six regional accrediting organizations for degree-granting post-secondary institutions in the United States. It serves as the accrediting body for higher education in 19 states ranging from Arizona to Wyoming and from Indiana to Colorado. The University of Nebraska at Omaha has been accredited continuously by HLC (and its forerunner, the North Central Association) since 1939.

HLC accreditation applies to the entire institution. It includes all programs and all locations.

The Higher Learning Commission accreditation process in which UNO participates is entitled the Academic Quality Improvement Program (AQIP) Pathway. At the university level, the quality improvement process is led by the AQIP Steering Committee.
OMAHA

Omaha is more than simply our location; the city truly functions as part of the UNO campus. With a population of more than 1.2 million within a 50-mile radius, Omaha is integral to what UNO is as a university and offers unlimited opportunities for collaboration. UNO and Omaha enjoy a dynamic, fruitful, long-term partnership with a shared goal: changing the lives of students and residents while enriching the global community.

INTERNSHIPS, JOBS, AND OPPORTUNITIES

Students find internships, careers and other opportunities in the heart of Nebraska’s largest city. Omaha is home to four Fortune 500 companies including:

- Berkshire Hathaway
- Mutual of Omaha
- Peter Kiewit
- Union Pacific

PLACE MATTERS

While it is a thriving metropolitan center, Omaha is quintessentially Midwestern. Residents enjoy the benefit of four seasons and find outdoor activities plentiful year-round.

Located on the eastern border of Nebraska, near the Missouri River, the city of Omaha is a center of creativity, business and philanthropy. This is where Fortune 500 companies, visionary nonprofits, award-winning arts and culture, and innovative start-ups flourish, and attract a range of world-class talent—from entrepreneurs to artists.

CULTURE, ENTERTAINMENT, AND SIGNATURE EVENTS

You can take in a concert at the CenturyLink Center or the world-famous Holland Performing Arts Center, catch an art house film at the internationally recognized Film Streams, stroll the more than 100 acres at the Lauritzen Gardens, or shop and dine to your heart’s content in the Old Market, Midtown Crossing or Aksarben Village. Take a walk from Nebraska to Iowa—and back again on the Bob Kerrey Bridge. This landmark offers a memorable view of Omaha’s skyline and is a prominent feature of our newly reinvigorated waterfront.

- NCAA College World Series (CWS) for more than 60 years
- NCAA Basketball Tournament
- U.S. Senior Golf Open
- U.S. Olympic Curling Trials
- U.S. Figure Skating Championships
- Big Omaha
- Berkshire Hathaway Annual Meeting
- National movie premieres
- Concerts, plays and museums
- Restaurants and shopping
UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA BOARD OF REGENTS

The Board of Regents consists of eight voting members elected by district for six-year terms, and four non-voting student Regents, one from each campus, who serve during their tenure as student body president. The board supervises the general operations of the university, and the control and direction of all expenditures.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA PRESIDENT

The current University of Nebraska President is Hank Bounds. On Jan. 12, 2015, the Board of Regents appointed Bounds as the seventh president of the University of Nebraska (NU). As president, Dr. Bounds leads the University of Nebraska and its four campuses.

Bounds serves as the university’s chief executive officer and reports to the Board of Regents, who are elected to govern the university. He is responsible for university administration, operation and implementing Board policies and goals—and works with the university’s campus chancellors and vice presidents to do so. He also provides educational leadership, direction, and strategy to the university.

As president, Bounds is the spokesperson of the university as a statewide institution, helping to communicate NU’s achievements and potential to the leadership and citizens of the state.

Prior to becoming president of the NU system, he began as a high school teacher, then rose to principal, superintendent, and state superintendent before becoming Mississippi’s commissioner of higher education in 2009.

UNO CHANCELLOR

Jeffrey P. Gold, M.D., the University of Nebraska Medical Center’s (UNMC) chancellor since early 2014, added leadership to the University of Nebraska at Omaha to his responsibilities on May 8, 2017, and was approved for this additional role for the interim by the Board of Regents. He is a tireless advocate for higher education and academic health care who is well respected on the local, regional, and national stage for his strong advocacy and dedicated leadership.
Dr. Gold has worked closely with faculty, staff, students, and administrators to help navigate the campus through a complex state budget situation that has led to increased efficiencies across all four NU system campuses, and growing collaborations between UNO and UNMC.

Prior to joining UNO and UNMC, Dr. Gold served as chancellor of the University of Toledo’s academic and clinical health sciences, which includes the colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Health Science and Human Service, and Graduate Studies. In that role, Dr. Gold had full leadership responsibility of the clinical, education and research programs, the faculty practice plan, and the integrated hospital and ambulatory health care delivery system. He worked closely with all of the undergraduate and graduate university academic programs as well as with the K-12 community.

Dr. Gold is a proud graduate of the Cornell University College of Engineering, where he received a degree in Theoretical and Applied Mechanics. He earned his M.D. from the Weill Cornell College of Medicine and completed his general surgery residency at The New York – Presbyterian Hospital and Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, where he later served as the administrative chief resident. He completed his cardiothoracic surgical fellowship training at the Brigham and Women’s Hospital with additional training in pediatric cardiac surgery at the Boston Children’s Hospital of Harvard Medical School.

As a leader, Dr. Gold’s experience and contributions are extensive, and have included more than 50 national professional committees and more than 100 national organizations, volunteer boards, government/public health councils, and industries. He has recently served as the Chair of the American Medical Association’s Council on Medical Education and the AMA/AAMC’s Liaison Committee on Medical Education. He is a member of the AMA House of Delegates. Dr. Gold has also served in numerous roles on governing boards and as the elected leader of regional and national professional, accreditation and advocacy organizations in the educational, research, and clinical care delivery sectors. He has also been certified by the American Board of Surgery and by the American Board of Thoracic Surgery, specializing in adult and pediatric cardiac surgery.

LEADERSHIP PROFILE FOR THE SENIOR VICE CHANCELLOR FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

The search for the next Senior Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs occurs at a pivotal time in UNO’s history. State’s budget constraints have challenged UNO to implement new and creative approaches to operations and infrastructure. With discipline and perseverance, faculty and administrators have conceived collaborative and interdisciplinary programming, realized administrative efficiencies, reduced costs, and upheld UNO’s commitment to access and affordability.

UNO has leveraged its entrepreneurial spirit and institutional agility not simply to persevere, but to emerge as a new model of a public metropolitan university. Embracing change and fueled by innovation, UNO values collaborative leaders committed to diversity who pursue new ideas, find creative solutions, take chances, and empower faculty, students, and staff to be agents of change themselves. For example, UNO’s senior leadership structure includes several joint appointments with the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) and the University of Nebraska (NU) system and has led to beneficial strategic collaborations across campuses.

Against this backdrop, the next Senior Vice Chancellor will articulate and implement a vision for enhancing academic excellence and achievement; inspire and enable innovation across the university; harness the energy, commitment, and passion of the UNO and Omaha communities; and work collaboratively with constituents to position the university as a leading institution in Nebraska, the nation, and the world.

FORTIFYING A SHARED VISION AND IDENTITY

As one of four academic campuses in the NU system—and its only metropolitan university—UNO has distinct strengths and advantages that serve the mission of the University of Nebraska “to be the best public university in the country as measured by the impact we have on our people and our state, and—through them—the world.”

The most diverse university in the University of Nebraska system, UNO is distinguished by a large first-generation student population and is on track to becoming Nebraska’s first Hispanic Serving Institution.

The university outperforms peer metropolitan universities in the nation in terms of student retention and completion.

The Senior Vice Chancellor is expected to develop and champion a distinct and compelling academic vision and identity for UNO that builds on its strengths, aligns with the system and university’s strategic goals, and defines a new course for student success and achievement.

INSPIRING A REINVIGORATED COMMITMENT TO ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE, DISCOVERY, AND A STUDENT-CENTERED LEARNING EXPERIENCE

UNO has countered national trends by building academic momentum, gaining recognition for signature programs, attracting prestigious research funding, and growing enrollment—all while absorbing reductions in state funding.

At the recent conclusion of a multi-year reaccreditation process, the Higher Learning Commission reaffirmed UNO’s accreditation with multiple commendations and no follow-up requirements. A highly uncommon outcome for higher education institutions today, the accreditor’s report represents an unconditional endorsement of UNO’s commitment to its mission, its academic and administrative strengths, and the platform it provides for acceleration to ever greater levels of excellence in teaching, research, and service.

To build further on these and other successes, UNO seeks in its next chief academic officer a leader capable of and committed to raising the profile and stature of UNO and its colleges while fostering a healthy, supportive, and well-rounded academic environment.

The Senior Vice Chancellor will foster the development of innovative and interdisciplinary academic programs that align with both workforce trends and emerging technologies.

The Senior Vice Chancellor will work with fellow chief academic officers across the NU system to develop and cultivate a pipeline of joint undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs.

In close collaboration with the deans and vice chancellors, the Senior Vice Chancellor will engage faculty across UNO and other NU campuses to activate the enormous potential for a more robust research enterprise, which will benefit the student experience, faculty scholarship, and the greater Omaha and Nebraska communities.

STRENGTHENING COLLABORATION AND PARTNERSHIPS

Omaha is a microcosm of the nation, representing every social, economic, and demographic stratum in the nation — and UNO’s historic and vibrant connection to Omaha is its signature strength.

Strategic and philanthropic community support has helped to sustain and strengthen the institution despite challenging external forces. At the same time, UNO’s impact on and commitment to its community are ubiquitous, manifested in the arts, businesses, school districts, health care system, and government.

UNO has cultivated and leveraged its role as an anchor institution in an urban environment to evolve from a commuter campus to a modern research university. UNO is committed to ensuring access, financial support, and workplace transition for its students, providing and retaining human capital in a nearly full employment economy. The university works closely with business and community partners to ensure its academic programs are meeting current and emerging workforce demands.

The next Senior Vice Chancellor is expected to honor this tradition of partnership by championing and modeling an authentic university-wide commitment to the communities it serves, prioritizing the academic preparation and experience of its students.

Within the University of Nebraska System, UNO has been forging strategic partnerships with neighboring UNMC as well as with the Lincoln and Kearney campuses to develop inter-institutional programs, pool resources, and coordinate efforts to compete effectively for talent, research funding, and state and philanthropic support.

Within UNO, deans and faculty maintain an extraordinary tradition of collaboration as reflected by interdisciplinary partnerships and programs, collaborative research efforts, and joint degrees, centers, and initiatives.

The Senior Vice Chancellor will be expected to support and strengthen these efforts, to model collegiality and collaborative leadership, and to identify new, mutually beneficial opportunities for partnership across UNO and its fellow campuses.

WORKING COLLABORATIVELY TO MAXIMIZE IMPACT OF UNIVERSITY RESOURCES

UNO continues to adapt to the reality of a constrained state budget environment while the demand for an educated workforce in Nebraska continues to grow. The university’s enrollment increases are offset by the ceiling on families’ ability to pay the cost of higher education and statewide tuition remission programs.

Working with the Chancellor, deans, vice chancellors, and others, the Senior Vice Chancellor will play a critical role in examining the current budget process to ensure it is collaborative, coordinated, and transparent, leveraging and deploying resources where they will have maximum impact while fueling pursuit of the university’s highest aspirations.

At the same time, the Senior Vice Chancellor will need to be highly entrepreneurial and diversify sources of revenue, develop and steward relationships with Omaha and Nebraska’s philanthropic community, and forge new synergies with the local business community.

ENHANCING INSTITUTIONAL EFFECTIVENESS

For decades, UNO has benefited from consistent and stable academic and administrative leadership. Few and infrequent leadership transitions have embedded vast institutional history and knowledge in a cohort of highly respected and collegial leaders whose shared goals and sensibilities have helped to mitigate bureaucracy and burdensome processes.

As the university continues to evolve in response to and anticipation of a highly dynamic external environment — and to ensure that UNO remains nimble enough to adapt and excel — the Senior Vice Chancellor will need to engage university and school leaders in ongoing efforts to ensure that UNO’s operations, structures, policies, and processes optimize the university for efficiency and effectiveness.

In doing so, the Senior Vice Chancellor — working in partnership with the deans and other UNO leaders — must balance respect for UNO’s decentralized culture with an appreciation for the institutional benefits of greater collaboration, consistency, and coordination.
PREFERRED QUALITIES AND CHARACTERISTICS

UNO seeks a Senior Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs with vision and passion for public higher education and a record of significant achievement and success as a leader in a complex research university setting. An earned terminal degree with evidence of scholarly, professional, or creative achievement commensurate with tenure as a full professor at a doctoral university is required.

To help UNO seize the opportunities and address the challenges ahead, it seeks a leader with the abilities to:

- Inspire a commitment to enhancing academic excellence and student-centered learning
- Build and steward trusting relationships with a broad range of internal and external constituents
- Foster a culture of research, creativity, and innovation, inspiring others to achieve great things
- Develop and implement a dynamic and inclusive strategic plan
- Make principled and courageous decisions
- Listen and communicate effectively
- Enhance engagement with the philanthropic community
- Work comfortably in a complex organizational environment.

In addition, the university seeks a leader with the following qualities and characteristics:

- Passion for the mission of a public urban research university
- Commitment to teaching excellence
- Unimpeachable ethics and integrity
- Highly collaborative and collegial leadership style
- Record of commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion
- Entrepreneurial spirit
- Authentic commitment to community engagement rooted in the academic enterprise.

- Strategic enrollment management experience
- Demonstrable commitment to improving student retention and completion outcomes
- Experience leading and managing change
- Understanding of higher education and contemporary university business models
- Sophisticated financial and budgetary acumen
- Strong analytical skills and proficiency using data to inform decision making.
