What can I do with a major in

BIOMECHANICS

Career Options

- Physical Therapy*
- Occupational Therapy*
- Medical Doctor*
- Research
- Sports Medicine/Training
- Biomechanical Engineer*
- Professor*
- Fitness Journalist
- Orthotist or Prosthetist*
- Chiropractor*

*Certification/Advanced Degree Required

Transferable Skills Gained

- Problem-solving
- Critical-thinking
- Listening
- Interpersonal skills
- Attention to detail
- Technical writing
- Observation skills
- Analytical skills

Employment areas

- Laboratories
- Hospitals
- Healthcare
- Research & Development
- Universities/Colleges
- Sports Industry
- Government

Informational Websites

- UNO, Department of Biomechanics
- Physical Education and Recreation
- Bureau of Labor Statistics
- International Society of Biomechanics
- The American Society of Biomechanics
- hper.unomaha.edu
- bls.gov
- isbweb.org
- asbweb.org

Extracurricular Opportunities

- Volunteer as part of the Biomechanics Team in the Biomechanics Research Building
- Join Maverick Athletic Training Students (MATS), Physical Education Exercise Science (PEXS) and/or Eta Sigma Gamma
- Seek out student research opportunities and internships
- Become a student member of biomechanics professional organizations

| ACADEMIC & CAREER DEVELOPMENT CENTER |