9. The Athletic Training Program may not accept a student even though he/she has been admitted to the Graduate College. The Graduate College Admission process is non-competitive and all students whom have met minimal criteria are admitted (see Graduate Catalog). We typically admit 9-15 graduate students per year.
10. Applicants must meet the UNO ATP Technical Standards in order to be considered for admission. Students who feel they may be unable to meet the technical standards should contact the UNO Services for Students with

Students must submit vaccination records that demonstrate the following inoculations: tetanus (within the last five years), full childhood series of MMR (Measles, Mumps, Rubella) and Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria, and pertussis), and the three-shot Hepatitis B series (students must have received the first HepB vaccination prior to the first day of ATHT 8110). Students must also provide evidence of a Tuberculosis Skin Test (PPD) that has taken place within 12 months of the first day of PE 8310. Students must also show evidence of immune titer to varicella (chicken pox), history of previously having the disease verified by a physician, or receive the varicella vaccinations. Students, especially those living in dormitories, are strongly encouraged to receive the meningococcal vaccination. Students electing not to receive the meningococcal vaccination will need to sign a waiver. Athletic training students are also encouraged to receive annual influenza inoculations (flu shots). Influenza inoculations will be required prior to the athletic training student's general medical rotations during ATHT 8360. All vaccinations are the financial responsibility of the athletic training student.

11. Starting date for accepted students is July 2024.

12. It is the Athletic Training Program policy that all decisions regarding recruitment, and admissions shall be made without discrimination on the basis of race, color, age, disability, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran's status, political affiliation, sexual orientation or other individual characteristics other than qualifications for the program, quality of performance and conduct related to the program in accord with the University policies, rules, and applicable law.
